

Hello Friends,

Another Earth Day is upon us. And it is our duty to honor & celebrate Mother Earth as it is our duty to report “who is doing what” to restore our precious eco-system to harmonic balance, that balance we humans have so thrown off balance. And in that light, we have a stellar line-up to talk about our planet!

Please forward to others who would appreciate this gathering and post widely!

Opening with blessings by Chief Phil Lane who creates a sacred space, & who has been kind enough to be with us for years.

This will be followed by an array of dynamic speakers by whom we will be educated and inspired to action.

In between some speakers is the music of two internationally-renowned musicians: the mellifluous voice & music of the beautiful Kristin Hoffman & the serene and jazzy music of Premik Russell Tubbs.

Each speaker in his/her own right is outstanding.

Among them, we are grateful to also have a translator of the Kogi Indian Tribe of Colombia, a searing voice calling their younger brother, us, to action to protect Pachamama.

This in itself, is a rare and sacred opportunity.

See below for speaker’s brief bios:
